

Superstore Sales Pivot Analysis – Detailed Insights

Technology category is the highest contributor to total sales, making it the primary business-driving segment.

Furniture category generates significant sales but shows relatively lower profit margins compared to other categories.

Office Supplies maintains steady sales with more consistent and healthier profit margins.

The West region emerges as the top-performing region in overall sales across all segments.

The East region shows strong performance, especially within the Consumer segment.

The Central region records moderate sales but lower profitability, indicating cost or pricing challenges.

The South region contributes the least to total sales, highlighting potential growth opportunities.

The Consumer segment dominates sales across most regions, outperforming Corporate and Home Office segments.

Some regions achieve high sales volume but weaker profit margins, signaling operational inefficiencies.

Overall, category and regional analysis suggests focusing on high-margin products to improve profitability.